Bruce Robinson Interview

Bruce Robinson (born 2 May 1946) is an English director, screenwriter, novelist and actor. He wrote and directed the cult classic Withnail and I (1987), a film with comic and tragic elements set in London in the 1960s, which drew on his experiences as a struggling actor, living in poverty in Camden Town.. As an actor, he has worked with Franco Zeffirelli (on whom he based the character of ...

"They made the change uptown when Little Steven joined the band!" sang Bruce, pointing to his long-time dreaming buddy. Bruce stayed on stage with the band for "Sun City" [] and the ever-popular "I Don't Want to Go Home" [] — a sentiment, as ever, shared by everyone in the building — before Steven and the Disciples closed out their show with "Out of the Darkness."

The "Man from Mars" nickname stuck and that's what he called his audio production studio when it opened in 1981. When he's not dubbing airchecks, he can be found producing commercials and radio documentaries like the one which earned a prestigious George Foster Peabody Award in 1976 for WGIR Manchester, New Hampshire.. Today, Ed keeps his hand in radio part time.
