"Have fun at what you do. It will be reflected in your work. No one likes a grump except another grump! We all spend plenty of hours at work. It's much more pleasant to spend those hours with people who have a bounce in their step and a smile on their face than with those who mistakenly associate professionalism with a dour disposition.

I could show you a picture of quite literally any of the offices on this list and it'd fit the bill, but there has been a huge movement toward the "home away from home" style of office design.. Here's the thing: employees need a work space that is separate from home to maintain that all important work/life balance, but that doesn't mean work can't be cozy and homelike.

I work at home, have no DCs (yet), live very close to open countryside and can honestly say it is the hardest thing I have ever done. I waited for years to get a puppy - did as much research as I could - and no matter how hard you think it's going to be, nothing will prepare you!

I understand that puppies are hard work but in what way?

"It is not easy to make the redistricting process understandable -- and near-miraculous to be able to do so in a highly entertaining way. But that is just what The Redistricting Game does, to the gratitude of all who want Americans to understand how this process is working, and why it needs real reform."
